Anatolian (Bezoar) Ibex (Capra aegagrus aegragus)

Hunting in Turkey

Anatolia, the bridge between Asia and Europe, contains rich hunting grounds which have been hunted for thousands of years by civilizations from the Hittites to the Romans and the Ottomans. From the Taurus Mountains of the Mediterranean to the Mercan Mountains of Eastern Anatolia and the Kackar Mountains of the Black Sea region, this area has its own species such as Anatolian Ibex, Anatolian Chamois, Anatolian (Konya) Sheep, East Anatolian (Armenian) Sheep, Mid Asian Brown Bear, Anatolian Wild Boar, Anatolian Red Deer, Roe Deer, Gazelle, Wolf and Lynx.

Besides hunting, Turkey is a great destination for vacations as well. Istanbul, Ephesus, Cappadocia, Troy and Antalya are some of the must visit places in Turkey. We offer private sightseeing tours in Turkey for you and your companions after or before your hunts. Please ask us for further details regarding our private sightseeing tours.

Anatolian Ibex

Has the world's longest horns in relation to body weight. Anatolian Ibex, also known as the Bezoar Ibex, is the most handsome of the Ibex species with horns as long as 140+ cm (55"+). The hide of the male Ibex decorated in a wonderful harmony of black and white during the rutting season.

Areas & Weather

There are 10-15 different hunting areas in south and east Turkey on Taurus and Mercan mountains. We chose the best area for your hunt after we complete our scouting in all those different areas. There are 3 type of areas; Common area 1 where average trophy size is around 100-106 cm (39-42") Common area 2 where average trophy size is around 106-117cm (42-46") Special auctioned area where average trophy is around 117-127cm (46-50").

The altitude is around 1,500 – 2,750 meters (4,900 – 9,000 ft) at most of the hunting areas. Snow is expected on the ground in January, February and March, but most of the areas do not have snow during November-December hunts. Please contact us for further weather conditions before your hunt. A suggested gear list is sent to all of our clients 3-4 months before their hunts as well. The terrain is relatively easy in some areas. However, some areas may be little bit more difficult than the average. That's why it is best for your interest to let us know about physical conditions before the hunt.

The Hunt

Ibex hunt is a typical spot and stalk hunt. We start the day very early and drive to the mountain for around 30-45 minutes from the hotel/lodge. As the sun starts to rise, we start glassing and try to find the best trophy. It is very common to see 10-15 male ibex a day if the hunt takes place during the rut. Spotting scopes are very important to judge the trophy size and compare with other males. After locating the desired trophy, the final stalk is carried out on foot. The shooting distance is usually around 200-250 meters (220-275 yards).

The Season

Ibex hunts can be scheduled between August 1 and March 31. Different mountain ranges may have different seasons depending on the rut, weather and other conditions. We recommend our clients to come between late November and March for better results. Please contact us for exact dates, openings and availability.

Accommodation

During our Ibex hunts, we accommodate our clients mostly in hotels. Some of our areas require accommodations at comfortable guest houses and we have very few areas where we hunt from tented camps as well. Please let us know if you have special requests regarding accommodation.
